SYMBOLIC MEANING OF THE BRUBAKER COAT OF ARMS

The Brubacher Coat of Arms was secured in Switzerland by Dr. Albert P. Brubaker of Philadelphia when on a visit to that country. It had as a title, "Familie Brubacher," and was a black and white print. An expert of Washington, D. C., in matters heraldic secured the services of an artist to produce the colored print used on the preceeding page. A brief statement on family insignia in general, and of the Brubaker Coat of Arms in particular, follows.

A coat of Arms is an heraldic insignia originally embroidered on a tabard, or short coat, worn by knights over armor. They originated in the days of chivalry, when they were used to distinguish individuals whom it was difficult to recognize when in full armor. The favorite emblem of the knight later became the adopted badge of the family.

The Brubaker Coat of Arms is marshalled and shows a blending of two or more coats of arms to form one composition. This composite is the result of family alliances. The upper part of the emblem came from the husband's side of the house, that at the bottom from the wife's family. The outstanding insignia is the unicorn, which is a symbol of knightly honor, purity, protector of virtue, cure for all kinds of diseases, antidote for all poisons. Its selection was probably due to honor bestowed upon a doctor of feudal armies. The unicorn at the top rests on a wreath of twisted silk, the number and color of twists show family connections and rank. The lower unicorn is in the same position or attitude — that is "Rampant," and means the same as the upper, except that it has a shield as background and is standing on the mountain, thus representing lordship of clan, or chieftain.

The branches and leaves of Acanthus both at the right and the left symbolize children or branches of the family. The pendant around the peer's helmet is an indication of rank bestowed for service as a peer. The strop at the bottom was obviously used like a belt to hold the coat in place over the armor.

THE BRUBAKER FAMILY IN AMERICA

FOREWORD

Appreciation of one's family requires both a backward and a forward look. When you ponder over the history of your ancestry, you cultivate a concern for your posterity. Pride and respect for the deeds of your grandparents leads to an interest in and concern for your grandchildren. One of the mediums by which the past, the present, and the future of a family are bound together is the family reunion. Such reunions have long been a matter of interest, and in recent years have become extremely popular among our people here in the United States and in Canada. Not the least of these annual or periodic reunions is that of the Brubacher-Brubaker-Brewbaker Family. A second medium of interest is through the work of enthusiastic genealogists and local historians.

Due to the great host of Brubakers in America, now to be found in every section of the United States, and in Canada, and due to the lack of contacts between all groups, it is impossible for any one group to have full knowledge of the spread of the custom of holding family gatherings. We do know, however, that the centers in which the largest attended meetings are held are those of eastern Pennsylvania, central Pennsylvania, Virginia, central Indiana, northern Illinois, southern California, and southeastern Canada.

In these centers and in other localities there are in the total several scores of persons who have gathered family records and family lore. Some have limited their compilations to several generations of their immediate family. Two men, each, have published small books as the result of their work which spread over many years. Jacob N. Brubaker, who in later years lived near Mt. Joy, Pennsylvania, and who was a distinguished Bishop of the Mennonite Church, in the year 1884 published a small-sized volume of 243 pages under the title: "The Brubacher Genealogy in America." Henry S. Brubaker of Mt. Joy, Pa. had his material printed in 1912. His book contained 344 pages. Both these men are now deceased. All Brubakers are greatly indebted to them for the pioneering work which they did on gathering family records. One not acquainted with the size of the Brubaker family might be inclined to think that these two books would include most of the Brubakers in America. The fact is, however, they deal with but one immigrant ancestor, and of that ancestor trace out, respectively, but one son each. It is safe to say that these books combined contain less than one-twentieth of the names of the family as of this present.

Among the members of our "Freundschaft" who have been most diligent in the collection of information are the following named persons with their place of residence. We gratefully acknowledge their contributions. Without their services knowledge of the family would remain very much incomplete.

The first Brubakers to come to America settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. It was among their descendants residing in this and the adjoining counties that the first of the larger reunions had its origin.

These meetings began in the year 1919 and have been held annually since then except during the years of World War II. At the 1932-reunion a movement was launched to gather material on family history and genealogy with a view to publishing the same. The Rev. Phares Brubaker Gible, D. D., then of Palmyra, now of Ephrata, Pennsylvania, was selected to do this work. He soon discovered that the Brubakers who attended this reunion did not come from a common ancestor, and that to prepare an inclusive story of the family extensive research had to be undertaken. The results of his wide correspondence, intensive research, and extensive travels have brought together in one body, the written materials and records gathered by the persons mentioned above, and those of his own collection.

By the time of the 1950-reunion, it was found that the total information gathered was too voluminous to be printed at one time, or in a single volume. It was therefore at that time decided by the officers of the Reunion Association together with other persons representing various branches of the family that a beginning should be made by preparing and printing a small volume, such as is before you now.

This book is to be considered as an introduction to the subject: "Brubaker History and Genealogy." The charts outlining the genealogy of certain branches of the family included in this book are something of an indication of the ground to be covered by possible future publications. Our historian has in his possession many thousands of names, dates, and records of events relating to the Brubakers and their descendants. No one can at this time say to whose lot it may fall to add to this collection of data. But it can be said with certainty that all this material is available to be put into final form and to be submitted to a printer. As interest continues and as financial means are provided, additional volumes similar in size to this may be printed. At the discretion of the purchaser these volumes when in printed form can be bound together.

AUTHOR AND COMPILER

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

The Brubakers are greatly indebted to the Reverend Phares Brubaker Gible, a native son of Rapho Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, for his long and painstaking efforts to produce this worthy volume of the Brubaker History. He was called upon by a unanimous voice of the Committee to this tremendous task, which he accepted and by his untiring efforts completed the first volume now published.

At present he is Pastor of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church of Ephrata, Pa.

He has previously served as Pastor of the Old Otterbein Church of Baltimore, Md. and the First Church of Palmyra, Pa. He is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College and Bonebrake Theological Seminary, and he pursued post graduate work in the department of Oriental Seminary at John Hopkins. He has been a Trustee of Lebanon Valley College since 1922.

Dr. Gible has taken much interest in genealogy, local history, and denominational Church history. He has written a History of the East Pennsylvania Conference, Church of the United Brethren in Christ, a volume of 608 pages, which has been published during the early part of 1951. In 1928 his translations of about one-half of Harter's "Boonastiel" were published. He wrote a history of North Londonderry Township and Palmyra, Lebanon County, Pa., which was published in 1938.

He has now in preparation several extensive genealogies. In the Lebanon County Historical Society he was Chairman of the Editorial Committee, and of the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws, was for a time a Director, and had a two-year term as President.

In the Annual Conference of his denomination the Rev. Gible serves on numerous Committees and Boards, and is the Conference Historian.

In the general Church Organization, he serves as a member of the Trustees Board of the Historical Society.

In the preparation of this Brubaker History and Genealogy, he has made a contribution to the Brubakers that can not be fully appreciated. Nor can language be found to express the gratitude of the people of our clan and those with whom we constitute a part. Again we say, a tremendous task well done is available to the public, as the result of a long protracted study and research, unlimited time, miles of travel and unselfish devotion for the good of others. The work of Dr. Gible will long live to inspire men and women to better living.

BY ANNUAL REUNIONS

CHAPTER I.

First Joint Brubaker-Hershey Reunion

Two hundred and two years after the first Brubaker and the first Hershey immigrants came to America, Menno Hershey Brubaker, who as his name indicates was a lineal descendant of both these immigrants, conceived the idea that it would be a fitting honor to his noble forebears for the Brubakers and the Hersheys to meet in a family reunion. It was out of gratitude to Almighty God for the healing of his body that he called upon his relatives to join him in holding a "Thanksgiving Reunion." Consequently on the thirteenth day of September in the year of Our Lord 1919, approximately twenty-five hundred persons met on his farm located near the village of Brickerville, in Elizabeth Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania.

It was quite fitting also that the first reunion should be held on land which was part of one of the original purchases of his immigrant ancestor, Hans Brubaker. Title to the parcel held by Menno H. Brubaker had never gone out of the Brubaker name since purchased by Hans on October 20, 1731. The first purchase in this area was a tract of 300 acres. Twelve years later Hans Brubaker bought an adjoining tract of 100 acres. Through subsequent years, the descendants of Hans bought additional tracts so that by the year 1860 there were thirteen Brubaker farms in the valley of the Hammer Creek.

This meandering stream of water derived its name from the operation of tilt hammers at the Speedwell Forge which is located a very short distance north and west of the Brubaker lands. Because of the numerous Brubaker farms, the fertile lowlands bordering on the creek, quite appropriately became known as "Brubaker Valley." Almost central in the series of farms, on a southerly exposure sloping away from Bricker-ville Ridge, lay the farm of Menno Hershey Brubaker.

Hans Brubaker * bequeathed to his oldest son, John (A-2), that portion of his land which finally came into the possession of Menno H. There stands today the spacious and substantially built stone mansion which was erected in two sections. Two stones on the south wall of the dwelling, one on each section, have the following inscriptions:

The inscriptions tell the story of the erection of the house. The one on the left shows that the older section was built by Hans Brubaker and his wife Maria (Dohner) in the year 1770; that on the right shows that the newer section was erected by Jacob Brubaker (A-70) and Maria (Eby) Brubaker in the year 1816. The Jacob Brubaker who erected the newer section of the dwelling was the grandson of the Hans or John who erected the older section, and the grandfather of Menno H.

Second Joint Brubaker-Hershey Reunion

The second and last joint reunion of Brubakers and Hersheys was held near Lancaster City on the farm of Levi H. Brubaker on September 4, 1920. When Hans Brubaker and Christian Hershey came to this new land of opportunity in 1717, they jointly purchased 1,000 acres of what turned out to be of the most productive and most valuable farm land in America.

It so happened that when Lancaster County (the fourth to be laid out in Penn's Province) was created in 1729, the site for the county seat known as "Gibson's Pasture," was about one mile east of the eastern boundary of the thousand-acre tract. The county-seat soon acquired the name of Lancaster Townstead. So rapid was its growth that in a few years it was recognized as the largest inland town in the Province, becoming the center of industrial, commercial, and agricultural enterprises. Roads branched out from it in every direction; westward extended the Wright's Ferry Road and the Anderson's Ferry Road, later known as the Columbia Turnpike and the Marietta Turnpike, respectively; to the northwest ran the Harris Ferry, or Harrisburg Road; to the north ran the Manheim, the Fruitville, and the Lititz Roads. It is therefore evident that Hans Brubaker, and his compatriot, Christian Hershey, settled in a spot which was destined to become the very heart of Lancaster County's multi-varied interests and activities.

Two other Brubakers, whom we shall properly identify later, in the same year settled in the same general community. During the lifetime of the second generation of Brubakers their farmlands immediately west and north of Lancaster had increased to approximately 2020 acres, and these acres were crossed by one or more of the above mentioned roads. The Little Conestoga Creek flowed across these lands in a northerly and southerly direction; and two small streams emptying into said creek, one on the east and the other on the west, each, are designated "Brubaker Run" in the atlas of 1864.

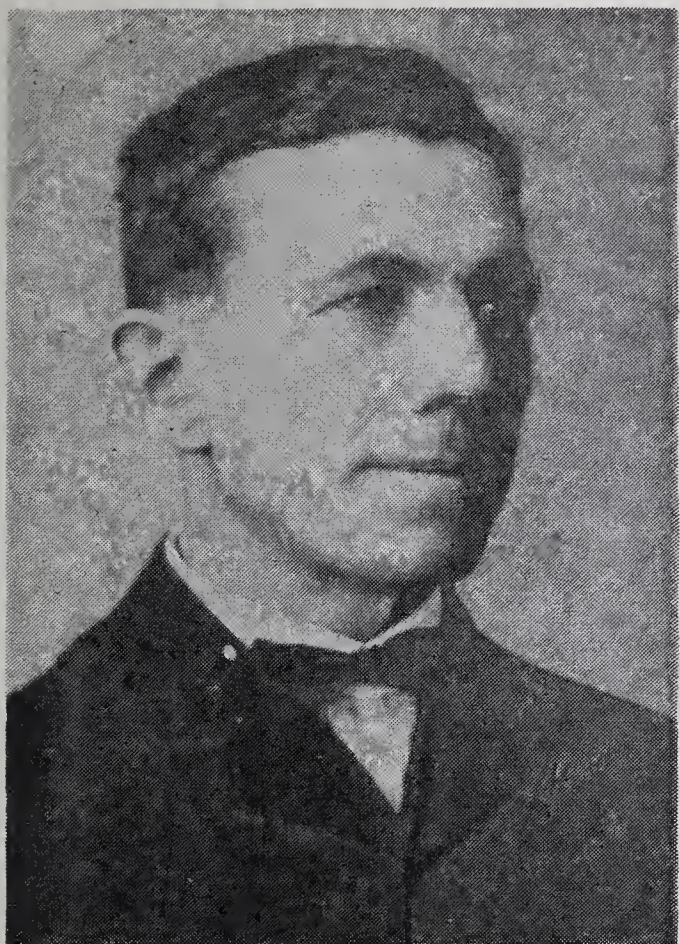

No more inviting nor more appropriate spot could have been chosen for the meeting of these two families in a friendly reunion, because the farm of Levi H. Brubaker is right in the heart of the tract which was jointly owned by Hans Brubaker and Christian Hershey. This farm like that where the first reunion was held was never out of the Brubaker name, which, as to time held in this family name, at this writing, covers a span of 234 years. Levi H. Brubaker is the 8th generation in descent from Hans, being a descendant of Jacob 1721-1799, second son of Hans. The wife of Levi H. before marriage was Anna Graybill Brubacher of the 7th generation in descent from Abraham Brubacher 1731-1811, who came to America in 1749.

This farm, is one of the finest in appearance, richest in soil, and most varied in agricultural products to be found anywhere. It, and the family which resides on it, have received nation-wide recognition and publicity by pictorial and verbal portrayal in farm magazines.

The great host of people which assembled on the occasion of this reunion had unusual joy in Christian and social fellowship. It was decided that this should be the last joint reunion. After the meeting a special session was called for Brubakers only. A new organization was formed by election of the following officers: president, Milton G. Brubaker; vice president, Harry B. Brubaker; secretary, Christian H. Brubaker; and treasurer, Jonas R. Brubaker.

Pattern and Procedure of Reunion Meetings

The pattern of organization for the holding of the annual reunion and that of the permanent organization differed. Permanent officers are those elected to conduct the business of what may be called the Brubaker

Milton G. Brubaker

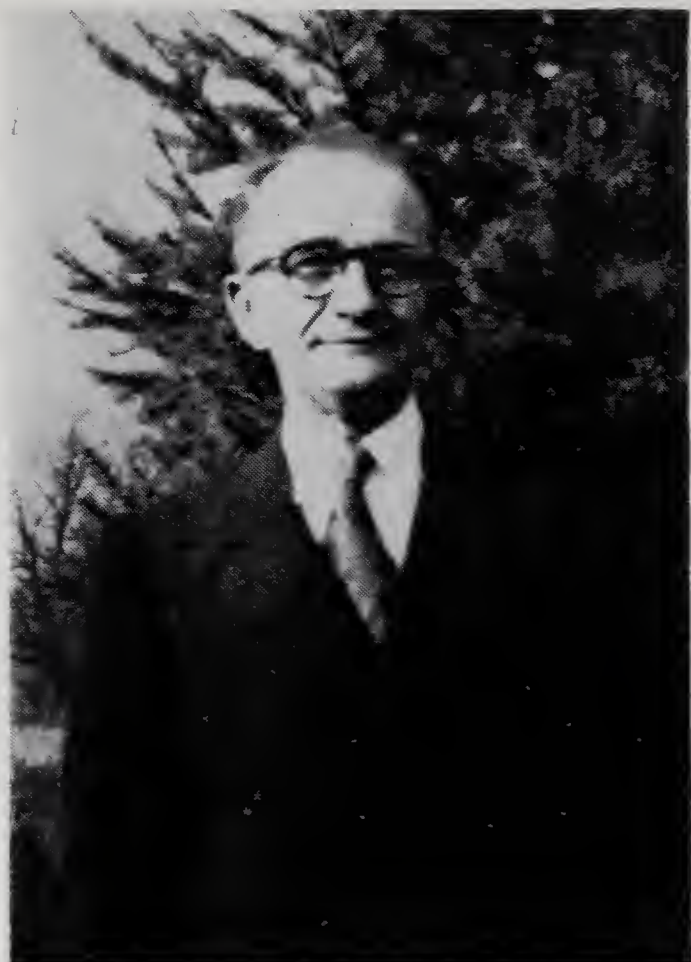

J. Clayton Brubaker

Family Association. Milton G. Brubaker who was elected the first permanent president died before the time of holding the 1921 reunion meeting. J. Clayton Brubaker of Lititz, Pa., therefore presided at the meeting, and was elected the permanent president. He continued as such until 1948, or a period of twenty-seven years. To him more than anyone else goes the credit for making the Brubaker Association an on-going institution. When there is any work to be done in keeping the organization alive and functioning, he is the man who puts his shoulder to the wheel. In recognition of a well-deserved honor, the reunion elected him president emeritus in 1948.

Norman G. Brubaker of Grantham, Cumberland County, Pa., was elected to the position of permanent president in 1948, and has been serving in that capacity to the present. He has, since being connected with the work of the reunion, shown interest in its promotion, having for a time served as vice president. Miss Naomi T. Brubaker, later Mrs. Albert Brechbill, also of Grantham gave loyal service as permanent secretary, from 1931 to 1948. Her successor, Mrs. Ruth Brubaker Shearer of Lebanon, R. D., Pa., is serving since 1949.

Permanent corresponding secretaries have been Benjamin F. Brubaker of Mt. Joy, Pa., and Miss Mary S. Brubaker of Luray, Virginia. Benjamin F. was active in the Association from the time of its beginning, until his death in 1940. He continued the work of bringing up-to-date the family lists which were published by his father, Henry S. Brubaker, in "The Brubaker Genealogy." Mary S. Brubaker did laborious work over many years in securing information on descendants of her ancestor, Abraham (A-4). She compiled an almost complete genealogy of that line of descent.

Norman G. Brubaker

Naomi Brubaker Brechbill

It was because of the result of work of such persons that the suggestion for a new genealogical record was made at the 1924 reunion. This work was undertaken seriously by Phares Brubaker Gible, descendant of Peter Brubaker (A-5), upon being selected as family historian at the 1932 reunion. His activities are recited, in part, in the Foreword to this book.

The procedure in setting up a program of exercises and of making local arrangements for the annual reunion is within the province of a planning meeting, called by the permanent president. The permanent officers, and persons located in the vicinity where the reunion is to be held, meet for a planning session. At this session, the local or reunion officers are elected; such as presiding officer or moderator, recording secretary, registrars, etc. Among those who have served as chairman or moderator have been: Landis H. Brubaker, Rohrerstown, Pa.; J. Clayton Brubaker, Lititz, Pa.; Moses Brubaker, Kitchener, Ontario, Can.; Adam B. Brubaker, Llanerch, Pa.; Henry G. Brubaker, Grantham, Pa.; Elmer G. Brubaker, Manheim, Pa.; Tahlman I. Brubaker, Lititz, Pa.; Leonard M. Brubaker, Lebanon Pa.; and Norman G. Brubaker, Grantham.

Recording secretaries have been: Christian H. Brubaker, Buffalo Springs, Lebanon County, Pa.; Charles P. Brubaker, Luray, Va.; David B. Betzner, Kitchener, Canada; David H. Brubaker, Lancaster R. D., Pa.; Mary S. Brubaker, Luray, Va.; May Brubaker, Lebanon, Pa.; Naomi T. Brubaker, Grantham, Pa.; and Mrs. Ruth Brubaker Shearer, Lebanon R. D. Pa.

It is not possible to list all local personnel which have had major share in local reunion meeting activity. Harry B. Brubaker of near Schaefferstown, Lebanon Co., Pa.; Dr. Warren I. Brubaker, Annville, Pa.; Sem Brubaker, Lancaster, Pa.; Wayne Brubaker, Akron, Pa.; Att. Earl A. Brubaker, Lebanon, Pa.; and Mrs. Henry B. Shearer, Mastersonville, Pa., and numerous others in the several communities where reunions were held, have given generously of their time in various local situations.

Funds for carrying on the work are, for the most part, provided by offerings at the reunion meetings. For the project of publishing a book there have been special gifts. All money is handled by the general treasurer. In the early years of reunion activity, local treasurers received the collections, paid the bills incident to the reunion expenses, and passed the balance on to the succeeding local treasurer. Among the permanent treasurers prior to 1934, were Jonas R. Brubaker, Lebanon, Pa.; Martin K. and Nathan B. Brubaker of Mt. Joy, Pa. Landis G. Brubaker of Manheim, Pa., is treasurer since 1934.

Family Reunions, generally speaking, have a wide variety of program of exercises. The Brubakers, however, have held to an established pattern that is somewhat unique. The morning session is a strictly Christian devotional session, consisting of prayers, congregational singing, special music numbers, and a sermon by a minister of the Clan. The selection of preachers crosses denominational lines. Those who have preached the annual sermons are from Mennonite, Brethren, Brethren in Christ, United Brethren, United Zion's, Baptist, and Methodist Churches.

Following are the names and addresses of the ministers who have preached at the reunion meetings. Those who came from the State of Pennsylvania are: Christian M. Brubaker, Earl Brubaker, and Jacob E. Brubaker of Lancaster or Lancaster R. D.; Isaac Brubaker, John B. Brubaker, Monroe Dourte, and Arthur Brubaker of Manheim or Manheim R. D.; John D. Brubaker, of Florin; Harry Brubaker, of Mt. Joy, R. D.; Phares Brubaker Gible, of Palmyra; Allen G. Brubaker, of Granville; Christian N. Hostetter, Jr., of Grantham; Lester Brubaker, of Coatesville; Frank Brubaker of Duncansville; and Graybill Brubaker of Altoona, Ministers from beyond Pennsylvania were: Moses Brubacher of Waterloo, Ontario, Can.; Uriah B. Brubaker and Charles W. Brewbaker, of Dayton, Ohio; R. T. Strickler of Luray, and H. C. Eller of Buena Vista, both of Virginia; and Claude A. Brubaker of Washington, D. C. Four of these brethren preached at more than one reunion.

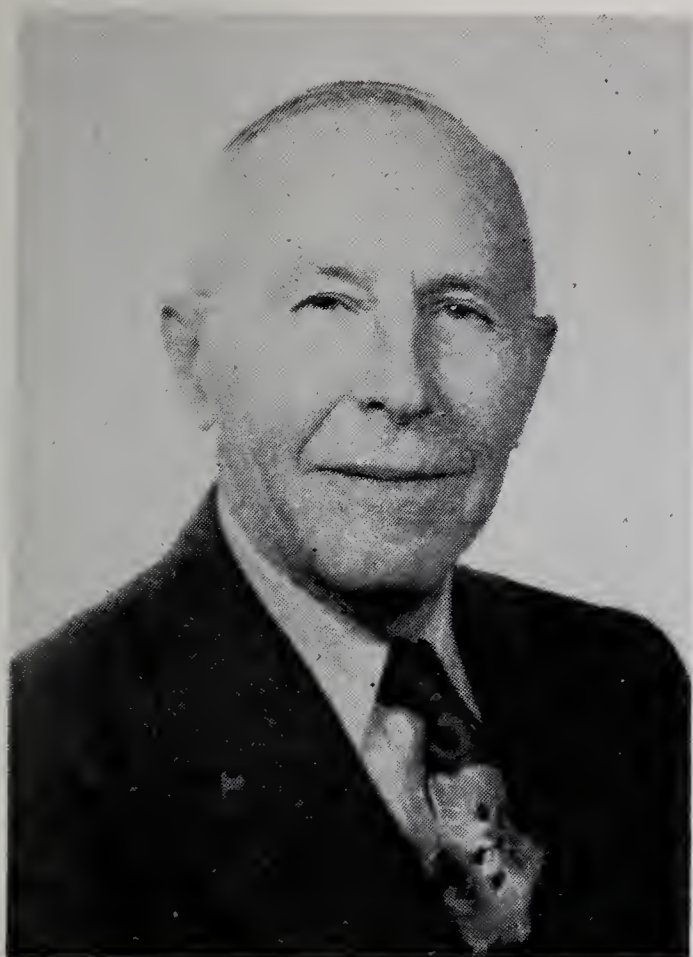

Nearly all families attending the reunion bring their noon-day lunch. Those who come from a distance, or who may be unprovided with lunch, are so provided by the local committee on entertainment. The noon-day recess provides an opportunity for genuine family fellowship. The traditions and experiences that center about the old home that was father's, or grandfather's, or even that of an earlier generation, are retold with cherished memory. Folks meet who have never before realized or known that they sprang from the same ancestor. To observe families seated together at the lunch tables, or groups standing about engaged in delightful conversation, is a beautiful sight to behold. It is like a bit of heaven on earth, as one may be inclined to anticipate the Great Reunion which is yet to be. Children too, have intimate contacts through supervised recreational features.

The afternoon session is given over to business, reports of deaths, historical reports, recognitions, introduction of folks coming from a distance, more group singing, and special musical numbers and recitations. Persons in the upper age brackets, eighty to ninety-six years of age; and babes but a few weeks old, have received special recognition. So, people of all ages, of all walks of life, of many different Christian denominations, of far-removed places, have met from year to year in a truly and joyous family reunion.

Following is the list of reunions held, giving year, and the place of meeting:

From the place names in the above list it is evident that the majority of the reunion meetings have been held in three counties of eastern Pennsylvania, one in a county centrally located in this State, two in Page County, Virginia, and one in Waterloo County, Ontario, Canada.

As would be expected, the Brubakers of Page County were hosts to the folks who attended the two reunions held there. The local committee, and the Virginia Brubakers generally, gave the visitors a royal welcome and in every respect proved to be very hospitable hosts. At the opening of the first session the old German Bible of Abraham Brubaker, the first to settle in the valley, was brought to the stand on the speakers' platform by Master John Abram Brubaker, son of William T. Brubaker of Massanutten. The preacher for the day, John D. Brubaker of Florin, Pa., read from the Bible, so that all could hear the language as used in public worship by their honored progenitors.

Abraham Brubaker (A-4), third son of Hans, took up the land which his father had bought in the year 1735, located in the Massanutten Valley, near the city of Luray, county-seat of Page County. Decades ago, before the age of the automobile came in, many Pennsylvanians took advantage of railroad excursions to see the marvels of the caverns at Luray. The visitors traveling to Luray and out again by railroad probably failed to see the greater beauty of the Massanutten. One has to cross it, east and west, over the Lee Highway; north and south from Luray to Elkton; circle about it, drive over the famous "Skyline Drive" on the east; and then having settled down somewhere in the valley to gaze upon the mountains which encircle it, one will be convinced that this is one of America's grandest nature spots. As we have on a number of occasions stood in the yard of the home of Joseph A. Brubaker and his sisters, Mary and Martha, near White House and looked north to the Massanutten Range, and "Strickler's Knob," which stands like a silent sentinel watching over the fortunes of the sons and daughters in the valley about us, we have said to ourselves, surely this must be a portion of Switzerland transplanted to America.

Harry B. Brubaker

Many people from the States availed themselves of the opportunity of going to Canada for the 1923 reunion. There are sections of Canada where Brubachers-Brubakers are as thickly settled to the square mile as in any county of any State of the Union. Among the earliest to settle there were: Maria Brubacher (A-74) and her husband, Bishop Benjamin Eby; Deacon John Brubacher (A-76); and his nephew, Elias S. Brubacher (A-225). A number of Brubacher men and women, descendants of John Brubacher (D-4) of Juniata County, Pennsylvania, also migrated to Canada. These Brubachers in the total bought many acres of land, and they reared large families. The family in Canada has already received considerable mention by those who have written on the subject of Brubacher migration and settlement, and if and when the whole story of the family in Canada will be told, it will form a sizable volume.

The committee members for the reunion on the photograph are: (reading left to right), seated; Eliab B. Betzner, Moses M. Brubaker, Menno H. Brubaker, David B. Betzner, and Benjamin Brubaker; standing, Allen Eby, Isaac Lachman, Jacob Shantz, Harry Brown, Isaac Eby, Stanley Brubaker, Samuel Brubaker, Jacob Brubaker, Jonas Bingeman, and Benjamin Eby.

Here we have an excellent likeness of Menno H. Brubaker, founder of the Brubaker Family Reunion. He was not actually a member of the Canadian Committee, but being its founder was shown the courtesy of appearing in the picture with the committee. Mrs. David B. Betzner writing under date of November 15th, 1950, states that all of the persons appearing on the photo, excepting Isaac Eby, Stanley and Jacob Brubaker, have "passed to the great beyond."

The 1927 reunion held at Memorial Park, Martinsburg, one of the largest of its kind ever held there, was arranged for by the Brubakers who for the most part lived in Blair County. A picnic lunch was prepared by the local people for all present. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Brubaker of Duncansville R. D., and other descendants of Samuel Brubaker did much work in arranging the best possible program and entertainment. Samuel Brubaker, then in his 87th, year was present. It was reported that he and his wife, Christianna, nee Bergey, were forbears of eight children, fifty-one living grandchildren and more than 150 great-grandchildren. One of the number, Norman Wilt of Everett, Pa., had charge of the family records. One of the features of the afternoon program which attracted great attention was the singing of the whippoorwill song, sung by the John B. Brubaker family of Middletown, Pa. The music furnished by this family was heard, always with pleasure, at a number of reunions.

One person above all others, who always keeps his audience in good humor, by music and anecdote, is Sem Brubaker of Lancaster, Pa. He rarely misses a meeting, and is always ready to respond to requests for his appearance on the program of exercises.

Much could be added of the various aspects of reunion gatherings, but enough has been written to show how they have stimulated interest in family history and genealogy.

CHAPTER II.

EUROPEAN BACKGROUND

The European Home of the Brubaker Family

We are fortunate to have had a member of our Clan who spent some time in the native land of the Brubaker family. The late Dr. A. R. Brubacher of Albany, New York, whose career will be given later, in response to a request for an account of his visit, for publication in this volume, wrote under date of July 2, 1932, as follows:

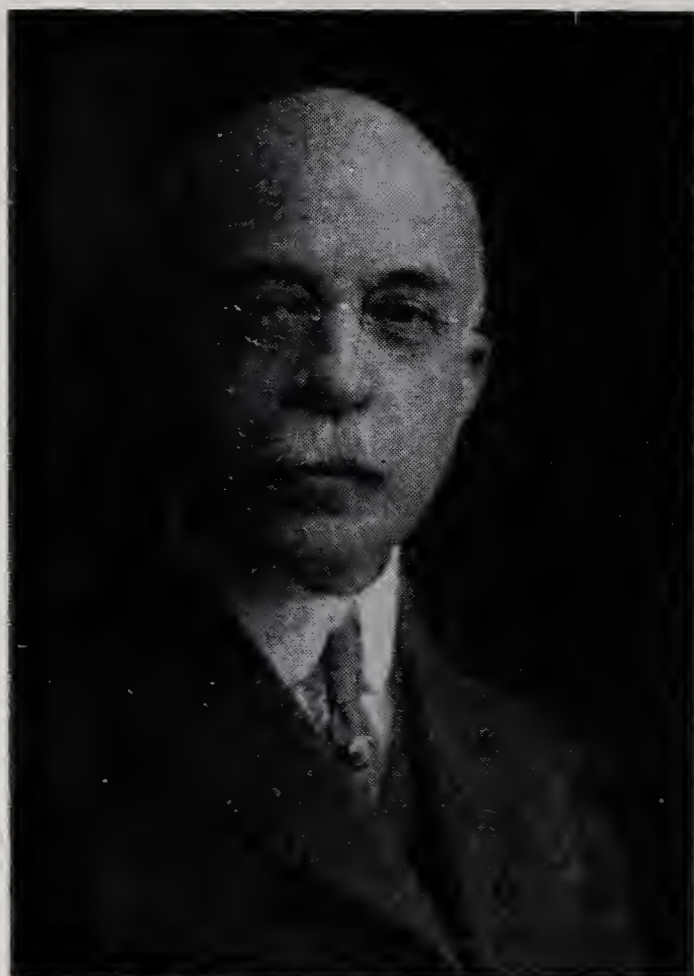

"In 1928 I spent the month of April in Switzerland, visiting the cities of Zurich, Luzerne, Berne, Geneva, and also the villages of Interlaken, Montreux, and Burgdorf. I found many traces of the Bruppacher family. In Berne, the city librarian placed a book at my disposal, in which was told the story of John Bruppacher who toured Switzerland preaching against infant Baptism. He reached Berne in 1530, was arrested and imprisoned for twelve months . . ."

"I met some Bruppachers in Berne and was entertained by Heinrich Bruppacher in his home on 9 Helvetia Strasse. His daughter prepared dinner and his wife presided very graciously over the table. I learned from the Berne Bruppachers that the family came originally from a small farm village, called Herrliberg near Zurich."

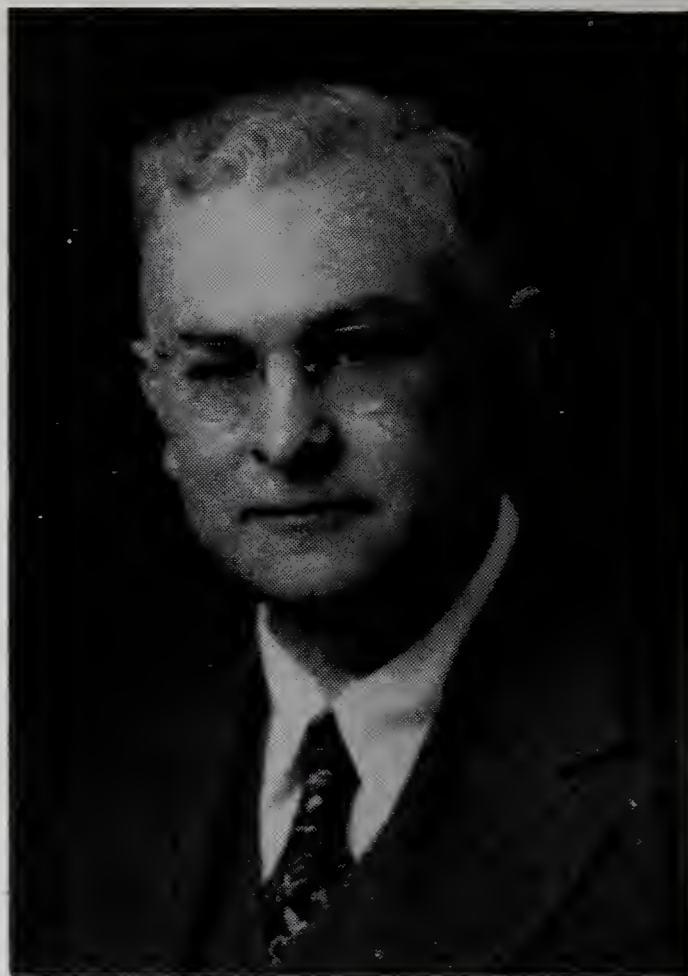

"In Zurich I found numerous Brubachers. One, a coal-dealer, another, a prominent banker. They are apparently very substantial citizens. And Herrliberg is still the home of some of the families."

Another member of our Clan, Dr. Albert P. Brubaker, of Philadelphia, for more than fifty years connected with the Jefferson Medical College, also visited Switzerland and made researches on the family there. He was kind enough to submit a replica of the "Familie Brubacher," insignia. Conversations with him confirm the location of the family in Switzerland.

In February 1938, the compiler of this book wrote to several persons in Switzerland to ascertain certain facts. These replies were received. Since two of these are from members of the Brubaker families now living in Switzerland, and the third has a direct bearing on the subject of location, we quote from this correspondence.

The first is in the form of a postal card, from Dr. Hans Bruppacher, Pastor, Winterthur-Toss:

“Geehrter Herr Gible!

Endlich komme ich zur Beantwortung Ihres Briefes vom 25. Febr. Die Familie Bruppacher (nur so oder noch Brupbacher odor Pruppacher odor Prupbacher wird hier der Name geschrieben) ist seit mehr als 400 Jahren heimisch am Zurichsee and kommt an seinen beiden Ufern vor. Es gibt bei Wadenswil (am See) ein ganz kleines Dorflein, das auch Bruppacher heisst. Mir ist der Name nur als zurcherisch bekannt, in Bern kam er fruher jedenfalls nicht vor. Die Vorfahren der Bruppacher in Amerika durften also alle in der Stadt Zurich oder in den Durfern am Zurichsee gelebt haben. Weitere Auskunft konnte Ihnen Staatsarchiv in Zurich geben gegen Bezahlung.

Hochachtungsvoll,

H. Bruppacher.”

Which translated is;

“Dear Mr. Gible:

At last I come to answer your letter of February 25th. The Bruppacher family (the name is so written here, or written as Prupbacher or Pruppacher, or Prupbacher) has for more than 400 years had its home by the Zurich Lake, and is found on both its shores. Near Wadensweil (on the Lake Zurich) there is a very small village by the name of Bruppacher. The name to me is known only as of Zurich origin, at any event it was not earlier connected with Berne. The ancestors of the Bruppachers in America probably all lived in the city of Zurich or in the villages about the Lake Zurich. The State Archives Office in Zurich can give you further information upon payment for the same."

Most respectfully yours,

H. Bruppacher."

The second is from Berta Sophie Brupbacher, Berne, written in English as follows:

"Bern, Schauplatzgasse, 19

April the 25, 1938

"Mr. P. B. Gible
Palmyra, Pennsylvania
U. S. A.

Dear Mr. Gible:

"We have received your letter of February the 25th. I have written at once to the different officers, to inquire where the various Families Brupbacher are born and have their citizenship.

"The State-Paper-Office of Zurich has replied this morning that they will find out the names and documents . . .

"The State-Paper-Office will send the result to us and has to be paid on delivery . . . "

With kind regards, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Berta Sophie Brupbacher."

The third communication is from the Staatarchiv des Kantons Bern, Dr. R. V. Fischer, Staatarchivar, and in part, states:

"The Brupbacher family is native of the Canton of Zurich, so we are not able to give you any information . . . Thus, we suggest that you write to the Staatsarchiv des Kantons Zurich, at Zurich, Switzerland."

The foregoing sources of information all agree that the Brubaker family resided in the Canton of Zurich, Switzerland. Numerous additional sources could be cited which attest the same claim. Among these is a statement by the Honorable, H. Frank Eshleman, — a mention from Dr. Egil of Hans of John Bruppacher being of those who lived about Zurich in 1730. Less than two centuries later, at the time when the Menonite migration began, the family had become numerous and had spread into other Cantons of Switzerland, and no other sections of the Palatinate.

From which of the several communities, those ancestors who migrated to Pennsylvania came, has not been ascertained. Research in the Staat-sarchiv, as our correspondents suggest, would probably bring fruitful results. Dr. H. Bruppacher's information as to location is quite specific when he states that they were found on both shores of the Zurich Lake. And further, that there is in Wadenswil a small village named for the family. One can be certain that the community where this village is located was either long inhabited by members of the family, or that the family was very numerous. A specific instance of persecution of a member of our family, which will be given later, shows that that member was from Wadenswil. Another source gives Horgen as a home of certain members of the family. Gatschet includes in a list of Zurich families the name Brugbacher as being of Horgen, it being a market town nine miles from the city of Zurich on the southwest shore of the lake, which together with its suburbs contains about three thousand inhabitants. Horgen and Wadenswil both are on the southwestern shore of the lake. This then rather definitely localizes their home.

A brief description of this lake with its immediate surroundings will give a glimpse of the country from which our forefathers came.

"Zurich lake, one of the principal lakes of Switzerland, is chiefly in the Canton of Zurich, but partly also in Schwyz. It forms a long irregular curve, bending round from southeast to northwest, convex on the south and concave on the north side; greatest length, about 27 miles; greatest breadth, two and one-half miles; greatest depth, 469 feet. Its scenery is distinguished not so much for grandeur as for beauty. The mountains around, nowhere exceeding 1,700 feet above the lake, which is itself 1,342 feet above sea-level, commence in wooded heights and descend to the water's edge in gentle slopes, covered with vineyards, orchards, gardens, cultivated fields and verdant meadows, and studded over with country-seats and smiling villages." (1)

When we come to observe the beauty of the sites and the nature of the soil where our ancestors located when they came to Pennsylvania, we can readily see that they were inclined to do so because of the nature and beauty of their homes and farms in the land from which they came.

Spellings and Significance of the Family Name

Some years ago a pamphlet was printed giving the various spellings and significance of the family name. To the best of our knowledge Dr. Albert P. Brubaker of Philadelphia secured the information from the Professor of Philology at the University of Zurich, Switzerland, and Judge H. Clay Brubaker had it printed. We quote from this pamphlet, printed under the title, "The Family of Brubaker". The original was prepared by the Professor, written in Swiss dialect, later translated by different parties.

"A few notes relating to the etymology of the family name Brubaker.

"In Zurich appears the family name 'Bruppacher,' in the year 1630, first. In Fluntern near Zurich, it appears as early as 1580. But on and along the right hand shore of the Zurich Sea, only an hour from a village of the Zurich Mountains Zollikon, this name first appeared.

"There flowed, in well-known times, a wild mountain brook on its way to the adjacent sea, over which was built a bridge about four hundred years ago, which was of so much distinction that, in order to place it before the public and distinguish the brook from many other mountain brooks in the vicinity, the brook was called the 'Brugg-Bach,' 'Brugg,' meaning in the Swiss dialect 'Brücke,' in English, 'bridge,' and 'Bach' a 'brook' or mountain stream running to the sea. In earlier times it was simply called the distant or remote brook, possibly on account of its length from its source to the sea.

“At this brook and near the bridge stood at that time a mansion, whose proprietor, to better distinguish him from the names of other prominent persons of the same name, was surnamed ‘Bruggbacher,’ which name, by and by, became the family name of this house, into which the earlier family name was merged. However, the city folk, as was their custom, desiring to make the language of the dialect in the canton as smooth as possible, names of persons as well, induced the country folk to assume surnames and to polish those surnames already taken by them, and encouraged a change of this name, which name, by and by, became to be spoken in the home of this family ‘Bruppbacher.’ This change the townsfolk kindly accepted, because the double consonants ‘gg’ changing to the ‘b’ made the name sound harsh and somewhat awkward.

“In England and North America the name for the same reason was again modified until it was transposed in the English language to ‘Brubaker.’ We find also that it happened that the consonants, through the kinsmen, became transposed, the ‘pp’ merged thereby in ‘b’ and the ‘ch’ into ‘k’ but finally in the cantons the three synonymous consonants ‘ggb,’ through the folk dialect, became transposed into the two consonants ‘pp’.

“In Eastern Switzerland the name is quite common, though spelled in different ways, for example: Bruppbacher, Brubpacher, Brubacher.”

The name appears variously in the American records. On the earliest patents appears, ‘Pupather.’ In later records appear; Prowbaker, Prubecker, Bruebaker, Brewbaker, Brubacher. In the tax lists there is an endless variety of spellings of the name, almost as many as there were different assessors and collectors in the several townships and counties of Pennsylvania. In most cases it is certain that these names are for persons who are members of the Brubaker family. There is only one name that has been confused with the name Brubaker, it is ‘Brubeck’ or ‘Broback’. For instance there was an early settler in Leacock Twp., (1751) by the name of Hieronimus Bruback. In a certain deed book his name appears as ‘Bruback’ and on a following page it appears as ‘Brubacker.’ He was a doctor and his name was clearly Bruback.

In use today are three spellings of the name; Brubaker, Brubacher, and Brewbaker. Brewbaker, where it is consistently used today had its origin in Franklin County. Brubacher is still widely used by certain members of the clan in Lebanon County, in the counties centering about Juniata County, in certain parts of the western states and in Canada.

The general causes for migration of Palatinates to come to America are fairly well known. Those descendants of Brubaker immigrants, now removed from these causes by six to ten generations will be interested in particular instances. Proper appreciation of the sufferings and humiliations endured by our ancestors is one of the best reasons for writing a genealogy. One may be excused for not caring to know who his ancestors were, but no one can be said to hold faith with his ancestors who does not hold in the highest regard the sacrifices which they made in order that the present generations may enjoy certain blessings and comforts.

"The result of the Reformation for long was to divide Switzerland into separate camps. Aristocracy and democracy, Protestantism and Catholicism, struggled for superiority." (2) This sums up the conflict which had religious, political and domestic aspects.

In the cities of Berne and Zurich the spoils of public office came to a few favored upper class families for years. The lower classes had very little freedom and no share in the making and enforcing of local laws. There was constant strife between the Cantons due to the everchanging rule of petty Catholic or Protestant princes. Rupp's History of Lancaster County gives the following account: (3)

"The unsettled state of affairs in Europe subjected many of the Germans, French, Swiss, and others, to sore persecutions because they could not change their religious opinions as to coincide invariably with those of the ruling Prince. The religious complexion of the country was frequently determined or influenced by the character of the rules; as they changed, it was changed, whether by force, or by inducements to, 'hold it with the populace.' To these changes it was impossible for the Germans, the French, the Swiss to conform." "Frederick II. Elector Palatine, embraced the Lutheran faith; Frederick III, became Catholic; Ludovic V. restored the Lutheran Church; his son, and successor was Calvinist. These in their turn protected some, others they did not, The last Prince, son of Ludovic, was succeeded by a Catholic family."

"The famous Edict of Nantes issued by Henry IV, in 1598, in favor of the Huguenots or Protestants was revoked October 23, 1685, by Louis XIV. Consequent upon the revocation of this Edict, there was one of the most terrible persecutions ever suffered in France."

"About this critical juncture, the Mennonites were persecuted in Switzerland, and driven into various countries; some to Alsace, above Strasburg, some to Holland, etc."

Oscar Kuhns, describes the situation thus: (4)

"During the 15th and 16th centuries the annals of Berne and Zurich contain frequent references to the measures to root out this (Mennonite) sect., many whose doctrines were distasteful to the State churches founded by Zwingli, especially their refusal to bear arms. From their first appearance in Switzerland in the early decades of the 16th century, the Mennonites were the victims of systematic persecutions on the part of their Reformed Brethren; even the death-penalty being inflicted upon a number, while others were thrown into prison, exiled, or, in case of a few, sold to the Turks as galley-slaves. Mennonite communities had existed in the Palatine since 1527. In 1671 the first considerable emigration took place when a party of 700 persons left their native land and settled on the banks of the Rhine. These were afterwards the supporters of their compatriots, who willingly or unwillingly left Switzerland the following years. These Palatinate Swiss had to suffer the same trials as their neighbors, but were treated with even more intolerance. Poverty, floods, failure of crops, the billeting of foreign soldiers,—all contributed to make their lot intolerable, and finally induced large numbers of them to join their brethren in Switzerland in the movement which resulted in the settlement of the Pequea in Lancaster county."

From a supplement to a German Hymn Book, printed in Germantown, Pa., year 1767, we have translated an account of a particular instance of this persecution which befell one of our very own family.

"In the year 1637, the 3rd day of May it happened that the high bailiff of Wateschweil ordered through his officials that we three brethren; Peter Brubacher, Hans Landis, and Jacob Rusterholtz shall come before him at his castle; that without fail no harm should befall us. But as soon as we arrived at the castle, he inquired of us how we were minded;—(after we had been taken into the clergy-room) whether or not we were willing to go into the Church. This was what was meant by the inquiry: if we will not go into the Church then he will imprison us. After that had happened to us as related in the fifth recital of the beginning of this little book (that is, they endured certain imprisonment and persecution). However, they did not long remain therein, when the prison was opened and two brethren; Hans Landis and Jacob Rusterholtz escaped. After this Peter Brubacher was alone. The next morning the bailiff made many promises as to the advantage he had gained because he did not break jail with the others, but these were empty words,—the promises were not kept.

"Instead, on that very same day they threw Peter into a worse prison. The doors were never opened. Later they brought him to Zurich, to the Town-Hall and kept him there for a time in imprisonment, and told neither friend nor relative where he was taken. From there they took him and imprisoned him in Othenbach and kept him there for more than forty weeks, with many others. They were miserably fed, and endured much suffering, especially so at the hands of the unshamed fellow prisoners who were of the rabble, and were imprisoned because of evil deeds. Each night a watch was set. Hereafter the prison was opened, in the year 1638, and Peter with about twelve others by the help of God was freed. After these events the bailiff sent his officers frequently to search out Peter, but God up to this time kept him from falling into their hands.

"Later on May 6th, 1640, it happend that they dealt unmercifully with his children and his household. The bailiff and his officers rode out to his home. Here they perpetrated such deeds that one would expect the very stones would move with compassion. On the same day, they scattered his household; men and maid-servants and drove away the children; took all property from house and barn, field and wood, sold it and took unto themselves the value thereof which was about 9,000 Guilders. Not long thereafter they also placed his sons into the Othenbach prison. Although they went into the Church, these authorities evilly corrupted them, yet, the sons were later freed."

Religious persecution, then, was the major cause for the general migration of our ancestors from the Palatinate to Pennsylvania. It has been stated that the religious persecution was brought about because of four distinct phases or attitudes, namely; 1. To hear all manner of preaching, was the first charge. 2. Conscientious scruples in attending public worship with either religious assemblies. 3. Open disregard for the doctrines of self-defense and violent resistance. 4. Opposition to war. That the Brubaker family was of this non-resistant group can be seen from the previous reference of Dr. Egli, and from an account given by Prof. C. Henry Smith (5). He states, "The Brubachers originally came from Zurich and were driven by persecution into South Germany, perhaps the latter part of the seventeenth century. They had a long connection with Mennonite History. The first man to be baptized in Zurich by Felix Mantz in the meeting in which the Swiss Ana-baptist movement had its beginning was a certain Hans Brubach of "Zumikon". In a letter from a number of elders in the Palatinate to the Mennonite ministers in Holland written in 1709, appears the name of Hans Brubacher. Whether this is the Hans who settled on the Little Conestoga two miles west of Lancaster city of course is not known."

When Did They Come?

The first migration of Mennonites to settle in the interior of Pennsylvania began in 1709 and ended in 1710. This is well known as the "Pequea Colony." Benjamin Eby in his "Geschichten der Mennoniten," states: "Im Jahr 1709, kamen etliche familien von der Pfalz welche von den vertriebenen Schweizern abstammten and liessen sich nieder in Lancaster County." ("In the year 1709, several families who were descendants of the dispersed Swiss, came from the Palatinate and settled in Lancaster County"). The fact is that they left Europe in 1709 and arrived in the present Lancaster County in 1710 and took up land now located in East and West Lampeter townships. Researches made by several competent local historians have definitely fixed upon 1710 as the year of their arrival. At the entrance of the "Willow Street or Brick Mennonite Church", located about one mile east of Willow Street along the road to Strasburg, the Lancaster County Historical Society in the year 1910 erected a bronze marker to commemorate the event and mark the spot where this colony settled.

In Appendix III, in his book, "Thirty-Thousand Names of Immigrants," Prof. I. Daniel Rupp lists Hans Pupather as having come with the 1709-1710 group of immigrants. In his list of those having arrived in 1719, he places the name of Johannes Brubacher. Rupp, though generally authentic in his statements, probably never made an exhaustive study of Brubacher immigrants, and consequently is in error on the point of time when Hans Pupather arrived in America. In the next chapter we present evidence from land records that year of Hans Brubaker's (alias Pupather) arrival was the year 1717.

CHAPTER III.

HANS BRUBAKER, ANCESTOR OF THE A-FAMILY

Hans Brubaker, immigrant ancestor of that branch of the Brubakers most numerous in America today, chose one of nature's most beautiful agricultural spots for his habitation. The place where he settled is not difficult to locate. If today any of the thousands of his offspring desire to find it they can do so by coming to that county of Pennsylvania which has been called, "The Garden Spot of the World," — Lancaster County. In the heart of this county is a celebrated city by the same name, Lancaster City. West End extension is partly erected on the very land which Hans Brubaker bought when he came to Pennsylvania. If the visitor selects to drive westward on Marietta avenue, Lancaster, Pa., which avenue merges into State Highway route No. 340, he will be traveling over part of the same tract, and if looking southward, just before coming to the town known as Rohrerstown, he will notice a group of farm buildings as fine as can be seen anywhere. To add to his satisfaction, the visitor will find that this particular farm has remained in the same family from the day in the year 1717 when Hans Brubaker became the owner until the present, a period of two hundred and thirty-four years.

The stream one crosses before coming to the driveway leading to the beautiful residence of Levi H. Brubaker is the Little Conestoga. This placid stream bordered by verdant meadows and shaded by stately trees divided the Brubaker lands east and west. It is of note to mention that on the way out of the city one passes, "Wheatland," now a historic shrine, former home of James Buchanan, the only Pennsylvanian to occupy the White House. In the days when Hans Brubaker lived, this road was designated as, "The Road from Lancaster to Anderson's Ferry." The settlement at Anderson's Ferry on the Susquehanna later became the town of Marietta.

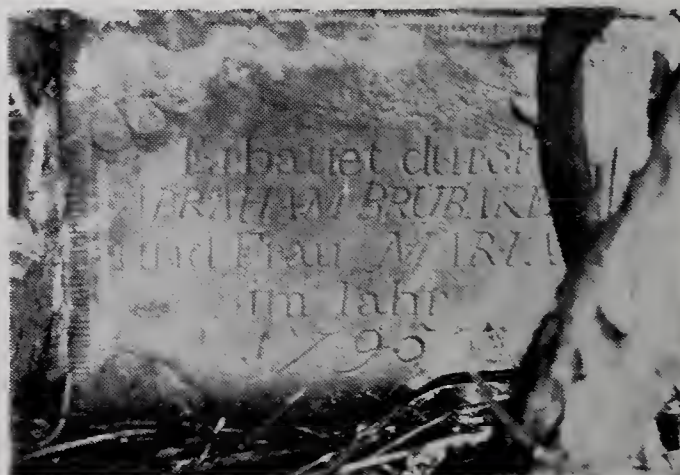

There are two sources which together prove conclusively when and where Hans Brubaker settled. The record of the Commissioners of Property taken from, "Minute Book, H." printed in the Pennsylvania Archives, II Series, Volume XIX, page 622, dealing with this fact, reads as follows: "Agreed with Martin Kundigg (Martin Kendig) and Hans Her (John Herr) (1) for 5.000 acres of lard, to be taken up in several parcels about Conestoga and Pequea Creeks, at ten pounds per Hundred, to be paid at returns of the surveys and usual quitrents, it being for settlements for several of their countrymen that are lately arrived here. Warrants signed, dated September 27, 1717." Then follow twenty-one names for whom surveys are to be made, either jointly or separately, and the amount of acres in each case. Among these are two items which interest us: one, "To Chr's Hearsey (Hershey) and Hans Pupather (Brubaker) for 1,000 acres", and another, "To Hans Pupather for 700 acres."

Land Purchases

We come now to quote from a document which shows that surveys were made on the basis of the above warrants, that the lands were paid for, and patents issued. It is the Patent recorded in Book A, Vol. 5, p-271 ff. We give following an abstract of said Patent:

"William Penn, Trus. absolute proprietary and Governor in Chief of the Province of Pennsylvania and Territories thereunto belonging, To all unto whom these presents shall come, sends greetings. Whereas by virtue of a Warrant from my present Commissioners of Property bearing date the seven and twentieth day of September last past there was surveyed and laid out on the fourteenth day of October then next ensuing unto Hans Pupather and Christian Hearsey late of the Palatinate of the Rhine in Germany (2) but now the Township of Strasburg (3) in the said Province of Pennsylvania a certain Tract or Parcel of land situate in the said Township.

Whereupon the said Hans Pupather and Christian Hearsey requesting of my said Commissioners a confirmation of the said Tract & Parcell of Land by Patent, Know Yee that for and in consideration of the sum of One Hundred Pounds of Lawful money of the said Province to my use paid by the said Hans Pupather and Christian Hearsey the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged . . .

James Steel Rec'r.

According to this Patent, Hans Brubaker with Christian Hershey paid for the land on November 6, 1717, thus marking the latest possible date when they could have arrived in Pennsylvania. From the statement, also in this Patent, "Late of the Palatinate of the Rhine," which agrees with the statement in Minute Book, H., "for several of their countrymen lately arrived," it is evident that they had not arrived until some time shortly prior to the application for the warrant, which date was, September 27, 1717. The probability therefore is that our ancestor Hans Brubaker came to the section of country which was to be his future home in the late summer of the year 1717. This evidence eliminates the possibility of his being in America in 1710, as certain generalizations on the subject would lead us to believe.

The 1,000 acre tract was held by John Brubaker and Christian Hershey, jointly, for a very short time only,—for a period of a year, perhaps only until the Spring of the year 1718. From another Patent on record in the land Officer, we learn that they; "... did in the following year 1718 by mutual consent and agreement, make partition of the same by causing a line to be run which divided the said tract into equal moieties of 500 acres each . ." (4) The portion retained by Brubaker was that south of the division line. On this tract he settled and remained until his death in the year 1748. On it he erected farm buildings; and a grist mill, the first to be built on the Little Conestoga and perhaps the first to be erected in this part of the Province. On this tract also was erected the first Mennonite meeting house in Lancaster county.

After the death of Christian Hershey the elder, (said to have taken place in the year 1722), during the period from 1729 to 1733, Deeds were executed between Hans Brubaker and the heirs of Christian Hershey, deceased, legalizing the division of lands which previously had been merely, "by mutual consent and agreement." There was a further exchange of land, parts of the original 1,000 acres, between Hans Brubaker and Benjamin Hershey, son of Christian Hershey, Sr. Brubaker gave to Hershey 74-1/4 acres out of the northeastern corner of his 500 acres for a like amount given by Hershey out of the southwestern corner of his 500 acres. (5)

Hans Brubaker bought other tracts of land. In order that the designations may be clear we give these purchases by number. The 1,000 acre tract would be Purchase No. 1.

Purchase No. 2 Hempfield Twp., Lanc. Co., Pa. By Patent A-13-195, he was granted 125 1/2 acres plus six percent allowance. The surveyor general accepted a survey made in the year 1730 for which a warrant was issued Oct. 29, 1746, and a Patent of confirmation given May 11, 1747. The tract adjoined the tract of 74 1/2 acres received in trade with the Hersheys.

Purchase No. 3. Elizabeth Twp., formerly Warwick Twp., Lanc. Co., By Deed from Lewis Lewis to John Prowbaker, a tract of 300 acres plus allowance of six percent for consideration of 192 Pounds, on Oct. 20, 1731. (6)

Purchase No. 4. Page County, Virginia, formerly Augusta Co. Jacob Stover sold to John Brubaker Dec. 15, 16, 1735 two tracts of land for 41 Pounds and 5 shillings: 300 acres on the north side Gerundo river (Shenandoah); 200 acres on the Gerundo river. Deed Book #1 p. 206 Augusta Co., Va.

Purchase No. 5. Rapho Twp., Lanc. Co., Pa. This known as the Mastersonville Tract, totalled 455 acres, plus the usual allowance. It was made up of two tracts: 1) A tract of 150 acres first sold to Woolrich Bucholter, who sold it to John Brubaker July 1, 1743; 2) A tract, by warrant which called for 200 acres, Feb. 18, 1743, but when the survey was returned, called for 305 acres, to bring the total to 455 acres. Which by a confirmation Patent, AA-7-276. Dec. 8. 1766, was actually patented to certain of the heirs of John Brubaker. (7)

Purchase No. 6. Elizabeth Twp., Lanc. Co., formerly Warwick Twp. On Dec. 19, 1743, John Brubaker bought of Adam Ulrich a tract of 100 acres plus the usual allowance, which was surveyed to Henry Ourwasser on March 2, 1738. A confirmation Patent was given to certain heirs of John Brubaker, AA-7-339, May 11, 1767. The tract adjoined on its southern line the 300 acre tract bought from Lewis.

The total area covered by these six purchases, including the allowances amounted to 2,069 acres.

This gives a clear picture of the extensive land holdings of Hans Brubaker and classes him as one of the county's wealthiest farmers. The story of how he disposed of these lands will be given under the narratives covering the careers of his several sons. Of all his lands only three lesser parcels were sold to persons other than his own children. He first sold to Hans Meier (Moyer), a triangular tract of 18-1/2 acres, the southeastern corner of the 500 acre tract. Next, on May 13, 1729, he sold to Chistian Stoneman (Deed, G-139) a tract of 150 acres and 113 perches. This was immediately west of the tract sold to Meier, and extended westward beyond the Little Conestoga. It had on it the grist mill, mentioned previously. There still remains on the west bank of the creek, where route No. 30 crosses it, an old mill building with a stone in the north wall, showing that it was erected by Johannes and Barbara Steiner, year 1767. This is most likely on the site of the Brubaker mill. The building has been transformed into headquarters for bathers and is the property of Maple Grove Park Management. The third sale of lands in this category was to Daniel Eshelman. It was for the one Moeity or half part of the 125-1/2 acres of Purchase No. 2, recorded in Deed B-473, under date of Dec. 29, 1747.

A Citizen of Prominence

While the accounts on the public careers of the Swiss Mennonites as individuals are very meager, the information we have on that of Hans Brubaker becomes rather outstanding. In wading through some of the proceedings of the Court of Quarter Sessions at Chester we found among the Constable appointees the name of John Brubaker. On May 26, 1724 he was so appointed for the Donegal district. This was but seven years after his coming to the Little Conestoga, and five years before the formation of Lancaster County.

When Lancaster County was erected and the original township boundaries determined, in August 1729, John Brubaker was appointed constable for Hempfield township. Of the total of thirty-four officers appointed at the time for all of the original townships, only six were Swiss or German; and of these six, John Brubaker was one. Soon after Lancaster County became a unit of civil government, a petition was laid before the court for the laying out of a road. John Brubaker was one of six men appointed to lay out said road. (8)

As late as 1732 he was still assisting the provincial authorities to maintain law and order in the county. One source says that he was acting as constable in that year, when he gave information to the sheriff and the proprietors concerning the unfriendly activities of Gressap and the Lawes on the west side of the Susquehanna. (9)

The quotation from the Archives on this subject is as follows: "John Brubaker, County of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, yeoman, on his solemn affirmation saith that he had occasion to go over the Susquehanna River to the house of Thomas Gressap on the 21st of November, last, and at the house of James Hendrix he met Daniel Calvert and Josiah Arnold of Chester County, who were coming over from the west of the river on their return home . . ."

Serving as constable had little political significance. The situation probably was that his friends in the community where he resided recognized him as a man of character and of a disposition to preserve peace in the community, and thus recommended him to be appointed by the courts both at Chester and at Postelwaites. The occasion for the report which he made as referred to above was that the Lawe brothers were killing horses, grazing on the west side of the river, which belonged to the citizens of the region about the Conestoga and the Pequea creeks. This action was a secondary matter. The primary cause of the difficulty had a political background—friction between certain persons living on the west side of the Susquehanna, who claimed that territory for Maryland, and citizens on the east side of the river.

This was but one condition which called for the preservation of law and order. There were strained relations between the Indians and the Settlers which had to be dealt with. Also, quite a number of squatters had settled in that part of Hempfield Twp. which later was organized into Manor Twp. These with other disturbing situations made necessary the appointment of minor law enforcement officers.

Because of the well known attitude of Mennonites toward office holding and participation in affairs of government, the acceptance of an office by John Brubaker might tend to brand him as an irreligionist. But we do not believe that he was out of sympathy with the Mennonite view. That he accepted such appointment rather reluctantly and did so only, in this very early period of the affairs in Lanacster Co., by considerable pressure on the part of his neighbors and friends.

Although he accepted office he is not listed among those who were summoned as grand jurors in the year 1730. We have the list of those who thus served and his name is not among them. This may serve as negative proof that he did not care to be too deeply involved in legal and civil matters.

The Will of Hans Brubaker (10)

This being the 14th day of February, 1748, has Hans Brubacher in his sickness ordered and caused his Testament to be drawn, if the Lord should call him off from this world and he should depart from his wife and children that it might be known what his will is between his wife, the elder and the younger children:

At the first, he orders that his wife, Annely Brubacher, at his departure shall live on the place or plantation where he lived and died on, but the land shall be and remain the portion for two of his sons; the land where she as his relict after his decease is to live on, shall not be alienated whether she should marry again or not marry, nobody shall have the power to drive her out of the house or from the place, for the little children shall be brought up on the place, and the land shall be valued by honest men. and also all the other lands shall be reasonably rated, and by honest men justly divided amongst his heirs, that is, all his children concerning his fatherly estate shall have equal shares and none shall have preference before the other, and the eldest shall not have a greater share than the youngest. Also all the moveables shall likewise duely be valued and divided and as is mentioned above the mother shall live on the half share of the plantation and bring the little children up on it.

The half of the land, that is, 200 hundred acres of the 400 shall remain a portion to the one of her children to which she will give it. The other 200 together with half of the plantation shall be bequeathed unto my son Jacob Brubacher, and shall be duely valued; and the 300 hundred acres near Sebastian Reier (Royer) which are surveyed at the Old Right, Hans Brubacher, my oldest son shall have 150 acres, the other 150 acres shall be bequeathed to one of the younger children, sons of the last wife, one of her children, and all shall be duely valued as above mentioned.

In the absence of any family records, the facts of this Will are very valuable. It states repeatedly that there were older and younger children; that is, children of a first and a second marriage. It further definitely mentions, "the last wife, one of her children." It has already been pointed out that the land records witness that each wife was named Anna. The will names, "Annely;" the (ly), in Pennsylvania German usage is a diminutive ending, but in this usage expresses a sense of affection or endearment. The literal language would therefore have been, "dear Anna."

The Will, while presented to the Court and placed on record, was not of sufficient legal import by which to distribute the estate. The main body of the Will, written in German, did not mention any executors. This defect was discovered before the father died. There appears therefore a note, "N. B." by which this defect was sought to be remedied. Though there were witnesses to the note or codicil, it was not signed by the testator. Consequently the Court appointed administrators; Anne Brubacher, the widow; Daniel Eshelman, a neighbor; and Jacob Brubacher (probably a son) were so appointed on April 18, 1748.

Nevertheless, the provisions of the Will were in the main carried out. A series of Deeds over the years, 1760-1766, show the disposition of his estate according to the Will, with some adjustments for amiable distribution. The land near Brickerville, Elizabeth township was equally divided between the oldest son John, and Daniel one of the younger children; one-half of the homestead plantation was deeded to Jacob, second oldest son, and the other half was equally divided between David and Christian, younger children; Peter and Joseph received the Master-sonville tract; Anna, the daughter was deceased, was without issue, and neither she nor her husband Abram Buckwalter are mentioned as receiving anything out of the estate, Abraham had in the lifetime of the father bought his Virginia lands; Henry, is the only son who did not receive any of the father's estate, so far as the records found show.

These younger children were quite small when the father died; the youngest was about four years of age, and the older of the second group of four of the second wife was about thirteen years of age. The mother lived on the homestead until about the year 1759. A search of the tax assessment lists, (original papers, found in the Lancaster county Court House, tied together in bulk according to townships) revealed that she was last assessed in Hempfield township in that year, eleven years after the death of her husband. Incidentally in that same year, one of the sons, Peter of Rapho township turned in an assessment list for his township. The fact that in the next year, 1760, the children began issuing deeds to each other for their several inheritances, and that her name does not appear among the signatories, proves almost conclusively that she passed on during the period 1759-1760.

The father was beyond doubt a rather sick man when his last Will and Testament was written. He lived but two months and four days beyond that date. The last resting place of Hans Brubaker and the two women who bore his children is not definitely known. Brubaker tradition has it that he was buried in a plot on the homestead, just a few yards northwest of the farm buildings, now the farm of Professor Benjamin B. Herr. Tradition also claims that the arched ground-cellar in front of the house on this farm was constructed in his time and that the family lived in it before erecting a house.

It would be a great satisfaction to know more of the intimate career of this ancestral family. We are content to know that they worked diligently and lived carefully in laying those domestic, agricultural and spiritual foundations which have blessed a vast host of grateful descendants.

(1) These two men, Martin Kendig and John Herr served as agents or intermediaries for Penn's Commissioners in the sale of thousands of acres to immigrants. See article "New Light on Martin Kendig and Hans Herr". Lanc. Co. Hist. Soc. Vol. XXIX, No. 4.

(2) On a previous page we gave Switzerland as the native land of the Brubakers. This statement in the Patent would seem to contradict that. A distinction must be made between the more permanent home of the family and their later temporary residence. Rupp in his history of Lancaster county says, ". . . this year a respectable number of Mennonites left Strasburg, in Germany, whither they had fled from their 'Vaterland' (namely Switzerland) and sailed for America." Our ancestors though they spoke German, were not native Germans, they were Swiss. The land records as well as other sources often make mention of them as "Swissers."

(3) Strasburg had not yet been officially organized as a township. The time involved, year 1717, was 12 years prior to the organization of Lancaster county. Strasburg was the name of a region, and was so named after the region from which they began their journey. Strasburg township as it now exists was not erected until 1759. It was carved out of Leacock Township.

(4) This is from Patent, A-6-379 dealing with land, part of the 500 acres which came to Christian Hershey.

(5) Deeds on record in the Recorder's Office, Lancaster Co.; QQ-510, 517 and R-187 give the transactions in full. The Deeds and the Patents involving these transactions more than anything else helped unravelling the facts regarding the Brubaker family.

- (6) This Deed could not be found recorded in the Lancaster office. It was through the courtesy of Mr. Deitrich, the then holder of the Deed and owner of part of the 300 acres that the writer was granted permission to have this and other Deeds for a time in order to make copies. The discovery of this Deed started the writer in the quest for records. in 1932, to obtain information on the Brubaker family.
- (7) Henry S. Brubaker in his "Brubaker" book says the place where this tract is located was called "Grenage, now Mastersonville." The Patent shows that the tract was called "Greenwich." Consequently he confused the name of the tract for the name of the place, and misread "Grenage" for "Greenwich". It was a common practice to give names to tracts. The Ourwasser tract next given, for instance, was called, "Inheritance."
- (8) The entire item reads as follows: "Upon petition of divers inhabitants of this county setting forth the necessity of a highway through Hempfield Twp. from the first unsurveyed land at the Susquehanna to Christian Stoneman, his mill, and from said mill to Daniel Cookson's at the head of Pequea, and praying that fit persons may be appointed to view and lay out the same accordingly. It is ordered, percuriam, that Edmund Cartledge, William Hughes, Charles Jones, Henry Nieff, John Brubaker, and James Pattison, do view the place, and if they, or any four of them are satisfied that there is occasion for the said road, they lay out the same and make return by course and distance under their hands to the next court." "(History of Lanc. Co." Rupp. p. 253.
- (9) One reference to this matter is from "History of Lanc. Co." Ellis & Evans, p. 867, and the other from the Pennsylvania Archives. The article in the County History is correct in the fact that Brubaker gave information. Whether he was acting as constable is uncertain. This same reference to Brubaker says that his was in the year 1732 and that shortly afterward he moved to Hammer Creek. The reference to his moving to Hammer Creek was incorrect. His oldest son, John, was the Brubaker who moved to Hammer Creek.
- (10) The Will translated from the German is on record, Lanc. Co., Volume X-2-21 April 18, 1748, John Myer and John Brubaker two of the witnesses to the within Will appeared.

TWO MASTER FARMERS

J. Clayton Brubaker

Levi H. Brubaker.

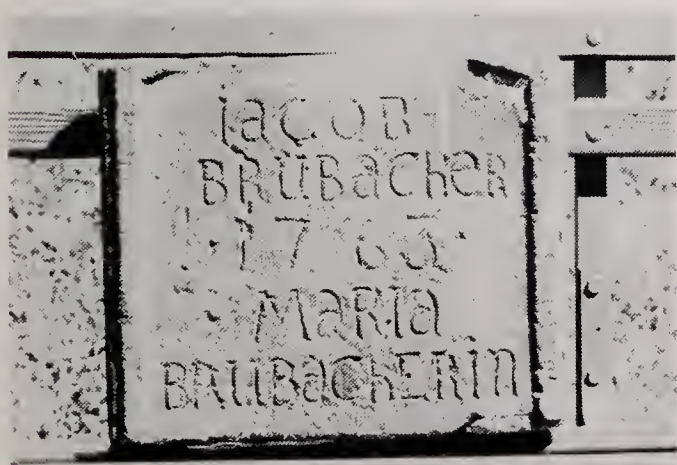

Both these men are Master Farmers of America. J. Clayton was so chosen in 1927. A Brochure of the Association of 1938 has the following statement on his career: "One of the most beautiful farm homesteads in Pennsylvania is owned by J. Clayton Brubaker of Lititz. Potatoes and wheat are the income crops now, but Mr. Brubaker is rebuilding the dairy and purebred livestock business he gave up on account of fire and post-war labor troubles. He grew 566.2 bushels of Cobbler potatoes on an acre in 1927 and averaged 350 bushels on 24 acres. Mr. Brubaker is president of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Federation and is active in many other organizations.

Levi H. Brubaker of near Lancaster received the distinction of Master Farmer in 1934. References to his work, and his residence on land which has always been in possession of Brubakers since purchased from the Penns, are found on the early pages of this book. From a statement published in 1934, we quote the following: "Potatoes are now the main crop. Some fifty acres are devoted to growing them. Mr. Brubaker is a member of the 400-Bushel Club and the week before we visited him he dug six carloads of early Cobblers. He has remodeled one of his barns into a hen hotel, complete in every detail from feed chutes to elevator. This farm is not a cold-blooded commercial proposition. It is a mode of living as well as a means of livelihood."

The photo on page 46 was taken on the border of the yard on which stands the bouse to which we have dedicated this book. The stone between the men is reproduced in larger size below. It was on the wall of one of the farm buildings on the property of Jacob Brubaker (C-3). The date on it, 1763, fixes it to be the oldest stone taken from a building erected by Brubakers.

The group of buildings on the other small photo are, on the farm next to that of Levi H. Brubaker. See family tradition concerning this spot, page 43.

Professor Abram R. Brubacker, A.M., Ph.D. and wife Roas Haas Brubacker.

Dr. Brubacker held the following positions as educator and school administrator: Teacher of Greek, Yale University; Principal of Gloversville N. Y. High School; Principal, and later, Superintendent of Schools, Schnectady, N. Y.; and President of Albany New York State Teachers College.

CHAPTER IV

LISTING OF FAMILIES

Families Included

In the lists which follow on succeeding pages, there are included those families whose ancestor was an early settler, or whose ancestor cannot be placed under an early settler because the relationship has not been established. Eighteen distinct beginnings are listed. They are indexed in the Table of Contents.

Preliminary Descriptions

The description or preliminary statement on the A-1 Hans Brubaker family appears in Chapter III. Preliminary or introductory statements of the several other origins are placed at the heads of the lists. This will avoid confusion. Had a preview been given, of all families listed, in a continuous statement, there would probably have been endless confusion. We therefore treat them separately. These statements, of necessity, are very brief. There are numerous considerations which enter into the background or setting of each original. Sufficient material is presented to place the family as to residence and time.

Explanations

1. The plan followed in the listing of families and individuals is by the use of capital letters and numbers. The several heads of families are designated by a letter, and the same letter used for his offspring throughout. The letter in conjunction with a number designate individuals. Each and every name, therefore, has a different designation, that is to say, there are no two alike. Once a designation has been given to an individual, the same designation is used when the name is repeated.

2. Families are blocked off by parallel lines. Generations are indicated at the heads of columns, the generations separated by horizontal lines. To trace out the descendants of a couple, one must follow through the parallel lines across the page, which are at the top and the bottom of the block where the names of the couples appear. The descendants of the couple may be continued on a later page or pages. Look for the repetition of the designation and continue across the lines enclosing blocks.

3. With but few exceptions, the listing ends with the fifth (Vth) generation. As stated in the Foreword to the book, it is not possible in one volume of small size to trace out and list the latest generation of descendants of any one ancestor. Our historian has on record almost endless information on names, dates, and events, not only of those who bear the name Brubaker, but of descendants of females who bore the name Brubaker.

4. Every Name given is a Brubaker surname, except males of females who married Brubaker males.

5. When the name of a person with (d.s.) or (D. Inf.) after it, appears such name is not repeated in succeeding pages, and therefore it may seem that there are missing numbers or designations. This is so intended, it is not an error.

Notes and Abbreviations

References have been used sparingly. The series, book, and page number of deeds, wills, patents, intestate records, are all in the possession of the writer. Only a few are given. Those references used in Chapter III are found at the end of the chapter.

Use of abbreviations in the lists:

a) An asterisk (*) is used to indicate that the date is approximate -- such dates are based on authentic court, civil, etc. records. All other dates are from family records, burial records, etc.

b) A series of dashes (-----) shows that name is not known to the author.

c) b. stands for born.

d) d. stands for died.

e) d. Inf. stands for died in infancy.

f) d. s. stands for died single.

g) m. stands for married. One m. under another m. with name following, shows that there were second or third, or even fourth marriages.

h) dau. stands for daughter.

i) Wid. stands for widow.

B-1 JACOB BRUBAKER and C-1 JOHN BRUBAKER

A Preliminary Survey

Jacob Brubaker (B-1) and John Brubaker (C-1) were brothers who came to America at the same time as did Hans (A-1), and bought land at the same time and in the same general community. These two Brubakers (B-1 and C-1) together with Peter Swarr were granted 700 acres of land in one block, which bordered on the north of the 1000 acres purchased by A-1 Hans Brubaker and Christian Hershey. This 700-acre tract extended about (as of present) from Rohrerstown northward to the Lancaster-Mt. Joy Road. On the east it included most of the area of Long's Park and extended westward to Mc Governville.

The tract was so divided that B-1 Jacob secured the land (222 acres) west of the Little Conestoga Creek, C-1 John and Peter Swarr that east of the creek; Brubaker receiving 328 acres, and Swarr 150 acres.

Because of the settling in one community of three Brubakers at the same time, and because all were at times called John, there have been endless confusions by people who wrote about them on having made superficial study only. There were, Hans of the A-family, John of the C-family, and Jacob of the B-family who was also sometimes called John or John Jacob. It was the author's thorough investigation of the dividing of lands by the heirs after the father's had died that led to the unravelling of the puzzle. We now know that three; not one, not two, (as some writers have claimed), were contemporaries.

Tradition says that B-1 Jacob and C-1 John were cousins of A-1 Hans. There are no available records on this side of the Atlantic either to prove or to disprove that tradition.

B-1 JACOB BRUBAKER

Anyone who may be interested to approximately find where this man and his family lived, can do so by turning north off route 340 at the western boundary of Barr's Nursery and proceed on that road which brings one out on the Lancaster-Mt. Joy Road at a point a bit east of the Oreville Mennonite Home. After having crossed the Columbia branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad one will pass by two groups of farm buildings with a Brubaker burial ground about equi-distance between them. We are inclined to believe that the first group of buildings is the site of Jacob Brubaker's original dwelling. The chart following shows who are among his offspring.

C-1 JOHN BRUBAKER

This was the shortest-lived Brubaker of the three under consideration, having died in the year 1725, about eight years after he came to these shores. He had but two sons, and only three grandsons. He lived east of the Little Conestoga Creek in the southwestern corner of Manheim Township.

His oldest son, John, died without issue. His second son, John Jacob, resided on the homestead, which was on the site of the old brickyard located about a quarter of mile westward from the former Lancaster Fair Grounds. One who worked at the brickyard many years ago took the writer to the spot to point out the site of the farm buildings, and he related how the wall of the barn had to be dynamited in order to be removed. The stone shown on page was taken from this barn. It shows that the barn was erected in the year 1763 while John Jacob Brubaker and wife, Maria, were owners of the property. In his will, Jacob or John Jacob, mentions that a school had been held in the dwelling.

There follows, first a listing of the family of B-1 Jacob, and then that of C-1 John.

D- ABRAHAM BRUBACHER FAMILY

Abraham Brubacher who heads this family came to Pennsylvania in the year 1749. Family tradition says that he was a cousin of A-2 John Brubaker, who had made a trip to Germany to find a help-mate for himself, and who on return to this country brought his cousin, the said Abraham, with him. Some writers on Brubaker history say that he came in 1750, but that is clearly an error, inasmuch as he shown to have arrived on the ship "St. Andrew" on September 9, 1749.

On June 6, 1757 he married Magdalena Eshleman, and in November of the same year he bought 172 $\frac{1}{4}$ acres of land which bordered on the Middle Creek about one and one-half miles south of the village of Clay. His wife Magdalena died in the year 1785. Her body rests in a solitary grave under the trees by the waters of Middle Creek. In 1787, he sold this farm and moved on a tract in eastern Clay Township located on Indian Run.

This good man was the first minister of the Indiantown Mennonite Congregation. Through his efforts, mainly, a small schoolhouse was erected, in which he kept school for a brief period during winter months. Among his offspring was a record of his father's family, as follows:

Abraham Brubacher, father, died in 1753, Maria Herr, mother, died in 1756; children: Anna, b. 1724; Maria, b. 1726; John, b. 1727, d. 1868; Anna Claire, b. 1729, d. 1733; Abraham, b. 1733; Elizabeth, b. 1735, d. 1758; Jacob, b. 1736; Peter, b. 1738; and Veronica, b. 1742.

Of these children, John, and possibly others came to America. There appear to be origins in Cocalico Twp. other than John and Abraham. Of John we have this information: D-1 JOHN BRUBACHER, b. 1727, d. 1768

m. Elizabeth -----

He lived in Manor Twp. Lancaster Co. at time of death.

E-1 JOHN JACOB BRUBAKER
Providence Township, Lancaster County, Pa.

Miss Naomi Brubaker of Strasburg Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, who died September 13, 1947 at the age of ninety-eight years, seven months, and twenty-eight days, had in her possession a record in German script of her grandfather Abraham Brubaker's family. One day while she lived at Hessdale she exhibited it to the writer of this book. Its contents were of very great help in getting a start on gathering information on Brubaker inhabitants of the region south and southwest of Lancaster City.

Abraham Brubaker (E-13) had a contemporary by the name of Martin Brubaker who also had a large family. Many of the Brubakers of Strasburg, Providence, East and West Lampeter, and Martic townships are descendants of these two Brubaker men.

It appears that they had a common ancestor, by the name of John Jacob Brubaker, for whom a survey of land was made in the year 1730. He settled on that land. It was located on a small western branch of Beaver Creek, in the present Providence Township (then Martic Township), a short distance north of the village of New Providence.

His last Will and Testament executed in the year 1754, names his children. We begin with him what we chose to call the E-family, listing the Brubakers of the area of the above named townships. The connection between the second and third generations as listed below cannot now be absolutely established, but information from all sources available point to the arrangement herewith presented.

Christian M. Brubaker a minister of the Mennonite Church, in charge of congregation at Strasburg, was a descendant of Abraham. So also was the Rev. Kendig Brubaker Cully Ph. D., of Melrose, Massachusetts. The latter states that his mother had information which showed that Abraham Brubaker was a son of John Brubaker who was married to a Miss Oberholtzer.

F-1 MICHAEL BRUBAKER
New Holland, Pennsylvania

A distinct branch of the family had its origin with Michael Brubaker of New Holland, Pennsylvania. His last Will and Testament made February 4, 1747 and probated March 19, 1747 is the earliest Brubaker will on record at the Lancaster County Courthouse. It definitely places him as a resident of "Earl-town." He probably came to the vicinity of New Holland with the Diffenderfer and other families in the year 1727. He was a wagon-maker by trade, lived on a small tract of land, and was in possession of two cows and five sheep. In his will he names the four children listed below. We have definite information on the sons, Conrad (F-3) and John (F-4). Conrad removed to Windsor Township, York County. We were able to contact but one of his offspring, therefore facts about him are meager.

Our listing of Isaac (F-6), Conrad (F-7), and Christian (F-8) may be incorrect. Isaac (F-6) and wife are buried in the New Holland Cemetery where many others of Michael's family are buried. From this we infer that he was of this family. A source which is in error at many points states that his ancestor in America was Jacob Brubaker. In view of what we discovered at New Holland we have discounted his being a son of Jacob. Christian (F-8) and wife Mary had property in New Holland. At the time of the 1790 census there were two Conrad Brubakers, one in Earl Township, Lancaster County, and one in Windsor Township, York County. On the bases of these facts we are inclined to feel that the three men in question should be placed as we have arranged them in the lists.

John N. Brubaker and his family lived on land which ran almost to the Susquehanna River at McCall's Ferry, now Holtwood, in Martic Township. In the year 1831 he took up land to the amount of 160 acres, which had been patented to William Patterson in 1786. Mr. Brubaker sold 109 acres and 153 perches of this land in 1837. Among his offspring is a paper which indicates that his wife Martha Sides came from the vicinity of New Providence, inasmuch as she joined the Reformed Church there at the age of twenty-one.

In the year 1823, there was a John Brubaker, Sr. in Conestoga Township, and a John Brubaker, Jr. in Martic Township. A transaction of land transfer seems to indicate that they were father and son. Thus the father of John N. was probably a John Brubaker. We cannot say what connection John N. Brubaker had with the early settlers of Lancaster County. His oldest grandson, Asa Brubaker, until recently was still living near Bethesda M. E. Church, located between "The Buck" and Holtwood.

BRUBAKER ORIGINALS
IN SOUTH-CENTRAL AND WESTERN COUNTIES OF PENNSYLVANIA

A number of Brubaker heads of families have their origins in the south-central and western counties of Pennsylvania, whose connections have not been definitely made with Brubaker originals in the eastern counties. Included in this group are several families that reach into Maryland. These will be listed, one group at a time, properly designated by captial letter, with the residence under each couple. Some facts also will be given concerning the head of each group: place of settlement, and in some instances, possible connections.

H-1 PETER BRUBACHER
Antrim Township, Franklin County

The first locality to be considered is the area of western Franklin County and Eastern Fulton County. The ancestor is a certain Peter Brubacher or Brubaker. On the census record of 1790 his name is spelled "Prubecker," on the land records, "Brubacher." Some of his grandchildren adopted the spelling, "Brewbaker." In 1792, Peter Brubacher purchased 150 3/4 acres of land located in the extreme northwest of Antrim Township, bordering on the Conococheaque Creek. The record say he was then, (1792), of Hamilton Township. He remained in possession of this farm until his death, which, the family tradition says was in the year the year 1824 at the age of eighty-two. There is definite information of but one son.

One source of information states that he had two sons other than Peter, there names being, John and David; and another source gives the names Peter, Andrew and Abraham, as being his sons. Perhaps both sources are correct, for the reason that a John Brubaker and an Abraham Brubaker held land in the same general region as did Peter and at the same time. We are inclined to believe that H-1 Peter Brubacher was of the D-family which is of Clay Township, Lancaster, Co. We assume that he was of the IIInd Generation, so stating it, and then giving his known descendants to and including the VIth Generation.

J-1 Henry Brubaker was a resident of Montgomery Twp., Franklin County when in 1814 he bought land in Licking Creek Township, Fulton County. He lived near Harrisonville in that township and later moved to Westmoreland County. Many of his descendants live in Cokeville, Blairsville, and Latrobe, Pa., while others are more widely scattered.

K-1 JACOB BRUBAKER
Allegheny Township, Blair County, Pa.

The family of Brubakers which permanently settled in Blair County, Pennsylvania, according to reports from among their descendants, had an ancestor who came from the region of the Conococheaque of Franklin County. It is possible that he was a son of H-1 Peter. We trace out below, the offspring of Jacob (K-1) Brubaker of whome we have definite information. Members of his family say also that he had brothers, John and Abraham, and a sister Martha.

This Brubaker took out a warrent for land, 365 acres located on Spencer Creek, less than two miles west of the village of Cross Keys, in the year 1815, for which he made final settlement in the year 1844.

L-1 ISAAC BRUBAKER
Letterkenny Township, Franklin County, Pa.

The Reverend John W. Brubaker, Huntington, Indiana, reported to the writer, in 1941, on the L-family. He wrote: "... my great-grandfather, Emanuel Brubaker, happened to be one of five brothers; and my grandfather, Isaac Brubaker, had told my father that one of his father's brothers, Isaac by name, had remained in Lancaster County, but my great-grandfather had migrated to Ohio, and, from Ohio, my grandfather came back to Franklin County, Pennsylvania." The Rev. Brubaker also intimated that there was a family connection between Emanuel, father of Isaac, and H-1 Peter. There follow the names of the descendants of Isaac Brubaker thus far ascertained.

M-1 CHRISTIAN BREWBAKER
Antrim Township, Franklin County, Pa.

We know of three brothers of the family we chose to designate the M-family: Jacob, John, and Christian. The Washington County, Md. records show that Jacob and John lived in that county. Jacob lived near Leitersburg, Md., later, he moved to Ohio. Of John we know only that he married a Miss Garver. A grandson of Christian told us that these three Brubaker men came from Lancaster County.

Christian and wife, Sabina Charles, are buried in the cemetery at the Welch Run Dunkard Church. some of their children are buried at the Broad Fording Church Cemetery, just south of the Mason and Dixon Line near Cearfoss, Md. Following are the names of the children and grand-children, surnamed Brewbaker.

N-1 JOHN BRUBAKER
Somerset County, Pennsylvania

John and Jacob Brubaker and their families are listed in the 1790 census of Bedford County. Jacob Brubacher and wife, Catharine, bought land in 1791 located on the South fork of Buffalo Lick Creek in Brothers Valley Township. Upon the erection of Somerset County the area fell within said county. Jacob Brubacher upon purchase of this land had as his surety a certain John Brubacher, and they together had given bond to Isaac Kauffman and Abraham Brubacher of Hempfield Township, Lancaster County. Isaac Kauffman came into possession of this farm in 1792. Jacob Brubacher was most likely the same who we identify as C-10; Abraham the same as C-9; and Isaac Kauffman, the husband of Elizabeth Brubacher (C-8). After the sale of this land, the name of Jacob Brubacher drops from the records of Somerset County.

Dr. Albert Powelton Brubaker gave us most of the names we record following.

V-1 JOHN BRUBAKER
Roanoke County, Virginia

The Brubakers of Roanoke County Virginia have in their possession a paper written in German script which contains name and birth-dates of the children of V-1 John Brubaker and wife, Anna Myers. This John Brubaker bought 150 acres of land from Jacob Eller abd wife, Magdalena, in the year 1804, which was at the time located in Boutetourt County, but since the erection of Roanoke County in 1838, it lies in that county. The location is about four miles northwest of the city limits of Roanoke and about the same distance northwest of Salem.

Piecing all available information together it appears that John Brubaker and his wife were originally from the Cocalico region of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. There is a marriage on record that John Brubaker and Anna Meyer of Cocalico were married May 1, 1774. In 1800 Jacob Meyer of Bethel Township, Dauphin County, now Lebanon County, made a will in which he mentions a daughter Anna who is married to John Brubaker. From 1777 to 1782 his name appears on several civil records of Bethel Township.

Among the neighbors of the Brubaker and Meyer families of Bethel Township were, Garst, Overholser, Frantz, and other families which are later found as neighbors in Roanoke County, Va. There are four facts, therefore, which lead us to conclude that the family record held by the Virginia people about Salem and Roanoke, is of the couple who were married while living in the Cocalico region of Lancaster County.

Brubakerss are found in Boutetourt, Roanoke, and Franklin counties as now constituted, during the first and second decades of the nineteenth century. From there this family branched out into Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Kentucky, and from this States westward, so that today many of the family are found even in California.

There is opportunity only, in this connection, to list the names of descendants we have found -- no space can be given to related facts, nor to indicate specific places of residence. This family is designated by the letter "V." The setup differs from that of previous sections, as the reader will notice.
